From the Desk of the Minister

Collect: O God, you declare your almighty power chiefly in showing mercy and pity: Grant us the fullness of your grace, that we, running to obtain your promises, may become partakers of your heavenly treasure; through Jesus Christ our Lord, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

The Parable of the two Sons

The Gospel first part of the reading for this week is about the authority of Jesus questioned by the chief priests and the elders of the people. Jesus managed to answer back with a question in order to answer their question. We can see the wisdom of Jesus all the time. When Jesus stayed in the temple after the Passover, Joseph and Mary went back to look for him and they found him in the temple courts, sitting among the teachers, listening and asking questions. Only Luke described this episode. "Everyone who heard him was amazed at his understanding and his answers." This was the first time for Joseph and Mary to hear about Jesus intended ministry. Jesus has wisdom from an early age to counter the religion leaders.

Jesus tells the story of the two Sons to show them about the reality of life. If you don't repent of your sins, the outcast and the tax collectors will be the first into the Kingdom of God. Jesus tells his parable and interprets it to them. The willing son did not go but the rebellious son goes later to do the job. Jesus applies it to the priests and elders, recognised religious people who are self-assured and proud, and the dishonest tax collectors and shameful prostitutes, excluded ones who humbly turn to God in faith. The Kingdom of God is a reversed Kingdom, where the first will be last and the last will be first. We are always reminded of the fact that actions speak louder than words. This is happened in this parable. You might say no sometimes, but the small voice might turn you to the right place and do the job. God is calling us all the time to be humble in our encounter with others. Let us continue our journey of faith with humility and grace, knowing that God alone can transform us into his likeness.
